

PRIME Integration Layer and Unique PRIME Core Upgrade Model

Fast innovation and compliance with seamless upgrades

With the latest version of its PRIME<sup>SM</sup> payments solutions, PRIME 4, TSYS® has evolved a new future-proof architecture to accommodate for fast-paced changes in payments industry innovation, technology and compliance.

By introducing the unique PRIME Integration Layer to protect the core, TSYS has realised its vision for PRIME as a secure, open platform. The Integration Layer will allow TSYS to foster a community of developers with next-generation industry partners to embrace innovation and new value-added services. Working together with its strategic industry partners – as well as its clients' partners – TSYS will continue to support evolving payment channels, devices and services to unlock opportunities in payments.

Introducing PRIME Core Drop

PRIME Core Drop ensures fast-to-market innovation for existing clients with the latest compliance for the core PRIME application and its supporting modules.

Leveraging PRIME 4's adoption of the PRIME Integration Layer, TSYS has created a framework that not only protects the PRIME core, but also protects clients' financial investment and existing efforts in enhancements or customisations developed against the layer. This unique architecture has allowed TSYS to adopt an approach where the core can be seamlessly switched and upgraded without challenging platform stability or risking business disruption within short timeframes.

With full compatibility for every upgrade release, TSYS empowers its clients to upgrade every 18-24 months in a timely manner. This allows them to take advantage of the latest innovation, payment scheme and PA-DSS system compliance, along with any upgrades to the latest operating system, database versions where the underlying technology remains unchanged. Furthermore, with all customisations developed against the Integration Layer, clients can benefit from seamless upgrades with minimal effort at reduced cost.

PRIME Academy

TSYS has created PRIME Academy as a value-added service designed to empower its clients to harness the full power of PRIME and business growth capabilities.

With courses specific to the PRIME Integration Layer, PRIME Academy will train and certify qualifying partners and client developers to connect with new third-party systems and next-generation services through hooks and standard APIs.
